Information Regarding Your Pet's Dental Prophy/Cleaning

Obviously when performing dentals on your pet, we are completing an oral exam while your pet is anesthetized. There are many dental issues that we may be confronted with such as loose teeth, root exposures, dental fractures and more. Although no one likes surprises, it sometimes is impossible to give an accurate estimate before an exam under anesthesia is performed. From an economic standpoint, it is much more prudent to complete all needed dental procedures during the initial visit, anesthesia and dental cleaning, rather than having to schedule another appointment with extra sedation and anesthesia to perform additional dental work.

In an effort to satisfy your desires and make clear communication as to how you would like us to proceed with your pet's dental, please initial the appropriate option

- A) Please perform whatever procedures, dental x-rays, extractions that may be required _____

- C) Please do nothing more than the requested dental prophy procedure at this time _____
- D) Please call me after the initial dental exam with an estimate of any additional charges before proceeding _____
